Maine Bears To Face Mules In Series Tilt

Important Game To Be Played At Waterville

Still seeking his first State Series victory, Coach Eck Allen continued hard drills for the varsity football squad in an effort to have the team at top form for the important coming clash with the rugged Colby Mule eleven. The Waterville institution boasts another fine team this year, and after early season reverses is really beginning to roll under the tutelage of the newly acquired Coach Nelson Nitchman.

The Mules got off to a slow start this season, dropping the opener to C. C. N. Y., and losing their second encounter to a fine Norwich club. However, they rebounded in the third game to down Vermont, trounced Middlebury, and last Saturday defeated a stubborn Bowdoin team for the first time in six years by a 14-6 tally.

Sophomores Star

The Colby attack this year is sparked by two sensational sophomore backs—Remo Verrugia, triple threat fullback, termed by many as one of the hardest hitting line plungers in recent Maine football history, and Phil Caminiti, a sparkling runner and good blocker.

In addition the Mules have a wealth of backfield talent available. Veterans Bobby LaFleur, Wendell Brooks, Johnny Stevens, and Dan Scioletti have all seen plenty of action this year, and have been ably aided by junior Abe Ferris and sophomore Mickey Pullia, Bud McKay, Phil Waterhouse, and Hank Rokicki. La Fleur's kicking and passing is well remembered by Bear followers, while Brooks and Ferris shone in the Bowdoin game.

Veteran Line

The Colby line is likewise a veteran aggregation, having eight lettermen available, and with plenty of reserve power in a rugged group of soph-

Ruth Clough Speaks Before Maine Govt. Class

Stresses Need Of Vocational and Educational Work

Speaking before a class in Maine Government Tuesday afternoon, Miss Ruth Clough, representative to the state legislature from Bangor, cited the increasing need for education and vocational training in Maine as a protective measure for youth of the state. Miss Clough spoke of the surprising lack of opportunity for recreation at some of Maine's state reformatories.

She stated that something must be done to help the more unfortunate youths to make an adjustment to a satisfactory way of life.

Speaking on the subject "Women's Interest in the Maine Legislature," Miss Clough mentioned some bills which have come before the state concerning health measures, welfare measures, unemployment compensation, education, and readjustment of the whole state system.

Stressing the need of passing a bill preventing the sale of fireworks in Maine, Miss Clough said that up to 1930 there were more people killed in celebrating the declaration of independence than there were in achieving that independence in the American Revolution.

Miss Clough stated that education facilities must be broadened in order to train men and women for positions which must be filled in the state and local governments. The state seeks, she said, "the best possible service with the least possible crookedness" in cleaning up the state.

NOTE

All juniors may get their proofs Monday, Nov. 3, at the "Prism" office in the M.C.A. building from 8:45-12:30 a.m. and 1:30-5:00 p.m. These proofs must be returned not later than the following Friday.

Masque Play Will Begin November 3

Large Crowd Assured For Opening Night

Gods and goddesses banished from the top of Mount Olympus to the royal suite of the Waldorf Astoria will proceed to create a furor in the Little Theatre Monday at 7:45, as the curtain rises on the first of four performances of the Maine Masque Theatre's musical comedy, "The Golden Apple."

Radio previews of the show on the University of Maine Sunday broadcast indicate that the student authors, Frank Hanson and Beatrice Besse, have turned out an even better play than their 1940 ASCAP prize winner, "Of Cabbages and Kings." "The Golden Apple," their second production in as many years, took five times as long to write and contains ten original musical numbers.

Contains Large Cast

A large cast, headed by Katherine Rice and Lewis Chadwick, has been working on the show since Oct. 12 under the direction of Prof. Herschel Bricker. The Maine Masque technical crew, headed by Adelaide Russell, senior transfer from the Bangor Maine School of Commerce, is in complete charge of work behind the scenes.

Stage settings for the production have been designed by Norman Mennes, who came to the University of Maine this fall as an assistant in the speech department. For four years Mennes was a member of the Pasadena Playhouse, one of the most noted of non-professional drama groups in the country.

Full House Assured

A full house seems assured for all four presentations of "The Golden Apple." While there are a number of rush seats left, the sale of season tickets has been the largest in Masque history.

Flanders Will Open WSGA Defense Assembly

First Meeting Of Women At Little Theatre Nov. 6

Freda Flanders, chairman of the coordinating council of the Women's Student Government Association, will introduce the program of training courses to be offered the women of the University of Maine at the first compulsory assembly of women which will be held Nov. 6 at 10 a.m. in the Little Theatre.

Miss Flanders will also express the attitude of the women of the Maine campus with regard to defense needs. Helen Deering of the student council is chairman of the committee planning the assembly. President Arthur A. Hauck will discuss the college women's position in relation to preparedness for national defense.

It is hoped that this assembly will be a concrete beginning of defense efforts on the campus and that after the assembly separate groups will take the initiative by putting into use any ideas gained from the meeting.

Alpha Zeta Taps Three Seniors, Junior

Three seniors and a junior were tapped to Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural society, at a meeting of the Aggie Club last Thursday night, Oct. 23.

The seniors were Keith Thompson, Jack Houghton, and Robert Deering. Lyman Jacobson was the junior.

Smith McIntire, representative to the agricultural bureau of economics for Maine, was the principal speaker, discussing the effect of defense on rural Maine.

Stage Crew At Work

Putting the finishing touches on a set for "The Golden Apple," Besse-Hanson musical comedy which opens in the Little Theatre next Monday evening, are Adelaide Russell, Marlowe Perkins, Laurence Davies, and Norman Mennes, new Masque technical director.

Annual Alumni Homecoming Scheduled For November 7-8

The Alumni Homecoming program this year will feature an event of historic importance in the formal ceremony marking the placing of the cornerstone of the new library building, it was announced by Louis T. Ibbotson, chairman of the committee in charge of the ceremony. A brief, impressive program will mark the occasion at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, November 8.

Chase To Speak

Featured on the program will be President of the Board of Trustees Edward E. Chase, '13, of Portland, and Alumni President George D. Bearce, '11, of Bucksport. Mr. Chase will speak on behalf of the Trustees and the University, and Mr. Bearce will represent the alumni. President Hauck will preside at the exercises which will symbolize the progress of the great cooperative effort to provide Maine with adequate and modern library facilities through the combined efforts of alumni, faculty, friends, and students of the University.

Davee Will Seal Vault

An impressive feature of the ceremony will be the sealing up in a metal vault in the heart of the stone, documents and publications representative of a cross section of student life. Members from various campus organizations will supply materials representative of their organizations to be placed in this repository and sealed up for the life of the building.

How To Be A Playwright, or Besse and Hanson Tell All

By Phil Pierce

The trouble with doing a story about a couple of authors is that the writer may give away trade secrets, so to speak. But, having known and worked with Bea Besse and Frank Hanson for a long time, I doubt that they will take any personal affront at the observations this writer makes in these printed words.

Most often asked question about these two is, "Do they ever get in each other's hair?"

The answer is, most definitely yes! You see, neither one of them sticks entirely to dialogue or music. Each do both and because they are so completely wrapped up in their own individual contributions, they fail to see the imperfections of their own work.

This condition is aggravated by the fact that they deal almost entirely in intangible things, such as music and psychological effect of dialogue on the audience. Therefore, it is very difficult for one to point out the defects of the other's particular offering, since about half the time they aren't speaking the same language.

Now, this condition may be easily translated as being prompted by jealousy. (Continued on Page Four)

Al Lingley To Preside At 'M' Club Meeting

Movies, Talks Are Among Highlights Of Annual Affair

Alfred B. Lingley, a graduate of the University of Maine in 1920 and president and general manager of the Goodyear Footwear Corp., of Providence, R. I., will preside at the annual meeting of the "M" Club at the University during the Homecoming program for alumni, scheduled for Friday evening, Nov. 7.

The "M" Club, organization of graduate and undergraduate lettermen, holds each year a Homecoming meeting for an annual report on the athletic situation and a general social get-together. Elected last year as president of the club was Joseph H. Hamlin, formerly of Bar Harbor, whose term of service in the U. S. Army prevents his return to the meeting this year. His place as chairman will be taken by Mr. Lingley.

Athletic movies, talks by coaches and alumni, and a general discussion of athletics will follow the business meeting of the club. The officers for this year are: president, Joseph H. Hamlin, '37; vice president, Alfred B. Lingley; and secretary-treasurer, Theodore S. Curtis, '23, faculty manager of athletics at the University.

Miller Awarded Tau Beta Rule

Philip D. Miller, a sophomore in chemical engineering, was awarded a slide rule by Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society, an award made annually by that organization to the highest ranking sophomore engineering student, at their annual "Tech Smoker" last night.

Eighteen engineers, 14 seniors, and 4 juniors recently elected to Tau Beta Pi, were introduced by President Frank Brewster and were presented with pledge buttons. The seniors included Edwin M. Seabury, Orson J. Foster, Frederick M. Perry, Gordon H. Winters, Donald G. Griffith, Edward H. Ruddock, Frank L. Wellcome, Harold J. Jordan, Robert E. Small, Austin E. Rankin, Otis C. Lawry, James A. Reed, and Frederick C. Koialovitch.

The juniors were Robert D. Jenkins, Wentworth H. Schofield, Jr., Justin O. Johnson, Jr., and James R. Ambrose.

Cummings Speaker At MCA Services

Dr. Charles G. Cummings, professor in the department of Old Testament history and language at the Bangor Theological Seminary, will speak at the regular morning service of worship in the Little Theatre Sunday, Nov. 2, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Cummings received his bachelor's degree at Dalhousie College in 1905, his B.D. degree at the University of Chicago in 1908, and his doctor's degree from Columbia University in 1919.

He has served as professor of Old Testament language and history for 21 years in Bangor Theological Seminary.

Thirty Two Are Up For Class Officers

Micky, Minnie Mouse At WAA Dance

Barn Dance Is Theme of Affair; Kierstead Playing

A Mickey and Minnie Mouse dance will be featured at the Penny Carnival Friday evening in the Alumni gymnasium, according to Sally Ryan, chairman of the entertainment committee. The dance, which will be presented during intermission, will include Frances Drew, Eva Woodbury, Helen Deering, Sally Ryan, Virginia Weston, Barbara Smiley, Cecil Littlefield, Ruth Sterns, and Marilyn Coy.

They will be dressed as mice and will dance to the music of Esther Randall's fiddle. Miss Randall will be costumed as a large black cat, in accordance with the Hallowe'en settings.

There will be modern and old-fashioned dancing with Steve Kierstead and his orchestra furnishing the music and the square dances being called by Bob Brundage. For those who are not familiar with the steps there will be a demonstration before each dance. Prizes will be given for the best costumes and there will be a fortune telling booth.

One of the corners of the gymnasium will be decorated with a hayloft from which the mice will scamper, and milking stools and milk cans will be found near by. Witches, pumpkins, and bats will hang from streamers, while corn stalks will add to the decorations.

The chaperons, who will be accompanied by a real skeleton, will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Hitchner, and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Highland.

Pale Blue Cabaret Set For January

The annual Pale Blue Key cabaret will be held on Jan. 9, according to an announcement made this week by Eugene Leger, president of the society. The date was chosen at a meeting held recently, at which officers for the present year were chosen.

Leger was elected president; John Bower, vice president; Stanley Phillips, secretary; and Ralph Runels, treasurer. Three new representatives were also elected, including Ralph Woodbury for winter sports, and Richard Youlden and Talbot Crane for track. At the meeting it was also decided to appoint a committee to be on hand to welcome visiting sport teams.

Train-ite Tells Tall Tale; Lads, Lassies Loop Lewiston

By Frances Nelson

Last Saturday 450 of the University of Maine students "choo-chooed" to Lewiston for the Bates game. We had a grand time, thanks, never a dull moment. Everyone contributed to everyone else's entertainment. On the way down there were bridge games, singing, and visiting. We ate hot dogs, made by the Senior Skulls' own hands, leaving mustard on many of our faces.

Cokes Is Popular! We drank cokes. Some of the boys, evidently, are very fond of coke. Some of them, coke in hand, swayed from car to car spreading good cheer. Their Irish grandparents would have been proud of their Celtic—we thought they were Celtic—accents.

When we arrived in Lewiston, well, Lewiston knew we had arrived. The rush to local restaurants for lunch reminded one of registration rushes. Two of our boys didn't rush though. They gave Mr. Ickes tardy cooperation by taking a horse and buggy to the football field. They showed promise of excellent horsemanship as they sat in their buggy, reins in one hand, coke in the other.

Annual Elections To Be Held Tuesday, Nov. 4

Ballot boxes for annual class elections will be open from 8 to 12 and from 12:45 to 5 in front of the University Bookstore next Tuesday, Nov. 4, it was announced here today by Laurence M. Downes, president of the General Student Senate.

In case of inclement weather, voting will be conducted on the first floor hall of the administration building.

Slates Arranged at Caucuses The slates of candidates for the individual class elections were drawn up at separate class caucuses held on campus last Tuesday night.

Listed on the senior class ballot for the office of president are Edward P. Barrows and Laurence M. Downes; for vice president, William L. Irvine and Stanley G. Phillips; for treasurer, Donald M. Kilpatrick and Eugene Leger; for secretary, Gloria Miniutti and Barbara Savage.

Goodchild, Pratt Head Juniors Heading the junior ballot for president are Carleton Goodchild and Bertis L. Pratt; for vice president, David R. Harding and Richard E. Martinez; for treasurer, Clifton S. Nickerson and Richard H. Youlden; for secretary, Margaret E. Church and Frances M. Donovan.

The sophomore ticket includes Alfred Hutchinson and Frank E. Squires for president; Percy H. Coombs and Clarence E. McIntire for vice president; Hugh M. Brownlee and Robert W. Nutter for treasurer; and Esther Randall and Frances A. Sheehy for secretary.

Barber, Donovan for Frosh The freshman class will vote on Howard C. Barber and James F. Donovan for president; Laurence W. Lyford and Donald M. Valdes for vice president; Martin A. Kelley and Gregory N. Petreas for treasurer; and Josephine I. Clark and Ruth R. Higgins for secretary.

Students will check one candidate on the ballot for each office in their particular class, in other words, voting for four different candidates.

Drama Feature On Radio Program

"The Story of Elizabeth Blackwell," America's first woman doctor, will be dramatized by the Maine Radio Guild for its next program, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 over station WLBZ.

On the same program there will be a brief summary of campus news, an interview with one of the faculty members, and one or two musical selections. The name of the faculty member to be interviewed has not yet been announced.

Kappa Sig, Phi Mu In Final Battle For Championship

Champions Defeated North Hall; Phi Mu Outrushed ATO I-O

They're at it again! This year's intramural touch football final again finds those perennial rivals, Kappa Sigma and Phi Mu Delta, as opponents in the closing battle. This is the third consecutive year that the Kappa Sigs have gained the Northern League crown, while for Phi Mu it is the second time in the last three years that they have topped.

Teams Well-balanced

Both teams have had hard battles to reach the finals, but both boast well-balanced teams. Phi Mu has a rugged defensive club, not having granted a single first down in this year's contests. Phi Mu defeated Tau Epsilon 24-0, Sigma Chi 2-0, Lambda Chi 2-0, and ATO I-O 1-0, scoring 29 points while keeping its own goal line uncrossed.

Kappa Sig, on the other hand, has concentrated on offense, with a good running attack accounting for wins over Delta Tau 6-0, I. S. O. 48-0.

mores and juniors. At the end posts the Waterville crew has its "H" men—Eero Helin, the Mule captain, a light but crafty wingman who was All-Maine in 1940, and Hal Hegan, tall 185-pound pass-snatcher. Alternating with these two have been Hal Bubar, a senior veteran, and Hal Rhodenizer, likewise a senior.

The tackle spots are also filled with capable and experienced linemen, with Orin Shiro and Ernie Weidul holding down the starting posts, but with sophomore Bill Hutcheson seeing plenty of action thus far this fall. The third veteran tackle, Louis Volpe, is sidelined for the rest of the season with an injury.

Loring at Center

Burt Shiro, 175-pound sophomore, a good defensive player, and Irving Liss, 182-pound senior, who understudied last year's Baum and Daly, have started most of the games this season, and both have played heads-up ball.

At center the Mules have one of the outstanding players in the state, Eddie Loring. Although weighing only 168, Loring is a durable, 60-minute player, who seldom makes a bad pass and is a smart backer. His defensive work was a feature of the Bowdoin game.

Colby showed plenty of power against Bowdoin, shaking loose Verrengia, Brooks, and Caminiti for good gains, and not depending on their air attack to bomb the Polar Bears into submission. Against the Pale Blue it is expected that the Nitchman eleven will use both its running and passing attacks in an effort to put the less-experienced Maine team on the defensive as soon as possible.

Dave Harding Out

Here on campus Coach Eck Allen decreed plenty of contact work for the week in an effort to correct the sloppy tackling of last week and to give the line a good look at Colby plays and defensive formations. Allen's most pressing problem appeared to be the discovery of a proper replacement for junior center, Dave Harding, who suffered a broken wrist in last Saturday's battle. Harding had performed capably at the pivot spot this season, alternating with Maurice Geneva during most of the games. Either Dick Stratton or Ralph Powell is expected to fill in for the injured center.

"THEY SHALL NOT PASS..."

In the group above are five of Colby's best backs, and they will have to be stopped this Saturday if the Black Bears hope to gain their first Series win. Left to right are Remo Verrengia, Phil Caminiti, Wendell Brooks, Jack Stevens, and Bob LaFleur. Against Bowdoin last week it was Verrengia who proved to be the most effective, but the other four were right there.

BEAR FACTS

By Icky Crane

One Down, Two Left
Garcelon Field, Saturday.

Well, the Bobcats gained their first Series win for Ducky Pond today as they treed Eck Allen's Bears in a thrilling, typical State Series battle. Outnumbered, but not outfought, the winners had to play near 60-minute ball to do the trick as substitutes were nil in comparison with the Pale Blue elevens.

An unorthodox seven-man line plus some mighty shifty running by a trio of Bates' backs did not help the Maine cause as the Pond eleven lost little time in getting underway. Mickey Walker, Del Johnson, and Jim Larochelle slid in and out of the Bear clutches most of the afternoon as they tackled up and down.

In the Cats' Lair

The day was not too bad after the snow stopped... the sun came out at times to cheer the chilled crowd of 5,000... Bates has a new cheer with a swing section thrown in. Sounded very good... the Bobcats were really ready for this one after stalling time and again against Northeastern.

Red Francis and Parmenter did yeoman work in the line... Lewiston was really happy... Bill Brown was right on the job in the press-box as a spotter... reports on the game at Brunswick got plenty of attention... this corner, for one, bets that some of the Garnet players hated to get up Sunday morning.

Male Time Again!

This week it will be Colby that provides the opposition and also Maine's first Series win under Eck Allen (we hope!). The Bears will be on the rebound; so Mules—be aware! When that Bear comes down out of the tree, it is going to be really tearing.

The injured list will be fairly small when Saturday rolls around. Dave Harding suffered a fractured wrist at Lewiston, and Squeak Squires has a broken finger to contend with at present. Some questionable line tactics left Red Merrill nursing what was left of his nose, but the team as a whole is raring to go. Colby here we come!

Maine Holds Edge Over Colby Mules

When the football teams of Colby and Maine clash on Seaverns Field this Saturday, it will be the fifty-third renewal of a series that had its beginning back in the Gay Nineties. Of the 52 games played, Maine has won 28, Colby has gained 22 victories, and only two have ended in ties. Few games in this hard-fought string have been runaways.

Fall Net Tournament Near Final Matches

In the second round matches in the annual fall tennis tournament, Bert Pratt won by default over Vernon Elsmore, Charles Allen defeated Charles Adams, Carl Wilbur won over Everett Ingalls, Bob Healey gained the decision over John Bennett, and Martin Kelly won over George Smith after a hard match.

Ernest Hines and Richard Ross defaulted to Charles Welch and Francis Thibodeau respectively. George Lother defeated Bill Gifford, Robert Guthrie won over Carleton Crossland, and Raymond Neal defaulted to Walby Francis. John Marriott won over Dick Chadwick after a hard battle, John Suminsky defeated Robert Smyth, and Mal Peckham gained the decision over Robert Parker.

Six Seniors Form Nucleus Of Nelson Nitchman's Eleven

The Mules have six seniors in their starting lineup in direct contrast to the two on the Black Bear eleven. Only one junior has broken into the lineup, and four sophomores are doing a good job for their new coach.

The Mules:

Hal Hegan, RE; 21; 185; he alternated at right end last fall but is a regular this fall; graduates in June.

Oren Shiro, RT; 21; 192; a top lineman; veteran of two seasons at the tackle position.

Burton Shiro, RG; 19; 175; another stellar player; brother of Oren; only a sophomore.

Ed Loring, C; 21; 168; a 60-minute man and a placekick specialist; All-Maine in 1940; originally a guard.

Irving Liss, LG; 20; 182; a senior, he played second string during the last campaign.

Bill Hutcheson, LT; 19; 190; best sophomore tackle on the squad; won his numerals last season.

Eero Helin, LE; 21; 165; the Tireless Finn; regular wing for two years, All-Maine in 1940.

John Stevens, QB; 21; 185; a veteran of two years at the blocking back post.

Bob LaFleur, LHB; 20; 168; a triple threat back; All-Maine as a sophomore last year.

Bud McKay, RHB; 19; 165; prepped at Saugus High and Hebron; fullback for the freshman team in 1940.

Remo Verrengia, FB; 20; 182; a sophomore triple threat man; the line-backer for the Mules.

John Turner, G; 19; 197; an end as a freshman last year; fast in spite of his weight.

Ernie Weidul, T; 20; 189; another sophomore; veteran tackle, can also play center.

Wendell Brooks, B; 21; 165; best running back; filled in for Johnnie Daggett last fall.

Phil Caminiti, B; 20; 175; sophomore open field artist; starred for the frosh in 1940.

Varsity Harriers Defend Crown At Augusta On Friday

Four Juniors Provide Maine's Balance; Carey And Hillman Threaten

The University of Maine harriers will be strong favorites when the cross-country teams of the four Maine colleges toe the mark Friday afternoon at the Augusta country club for the annual renewal of their old rivalry.

The Maine team will be made up of Dwight Moody, Phil Hamm, Leo Estabrook, Dick Martinez, Irwin Higgins, John Stanley, and Ray Atwood. Six of these men ran against New Hampshire three weeks ago, while Ray Atwood won his place on the team only last Friday, in the final time trial before the State Meet. Atwood and Stanley are sophomores.

Bowdoin Strong

Bowdoin has three strong men in Hillman, Carey, and Benjamin, while Bates pins its hopes on Bert Smith, and Colby counts on Quincy. Bowdoin has the strongest team but still lacks the balance to be a threat to Maine's hopes of victory.

The fight for individual honors will be more evenly contested. Moody and Hamm are both capable of winning.

Frosh Eleven Will Face Hilltoppers

The once-beaten Maine freshman football squad stacks up against one of its toughest foes Friday afternoon when it meets the once-tied team of Kents Hill. The game will probably be one of the most interesting non-varsity games to be played this year. Kents Hill has the strongest team they have had for many seasons, a big, tough line and a fast, well-balanced backfield. The only game they haven't won was their tie with M.C.I., considered one of the outstanding prep school teams in the state. The fans in the western part of the state favor them to take the yearlings into camp.

Took Jayvees Easily

The frosh, on the other hand, since they lost their first game to Hebron, have had the most outstanding squad that a freshman class can boast of for many years back. They whipped Ricker 26 to 20, points of which was clocked up in the first eight plays the Frosh ran. Last week they ran over the J.V. team 27-6 as if it were a high school team.

Two Bear Teams Due To Win First Games

The first week-end of State Series battles has passed, and the sports department came out with an even break on the weekly prognostications. This week—if all goes as scheduled by the below results—the result will be 100%.

Doris Emery was elected temporary chairman of the Freshman Women's Cabinet of the Maine Christian Association Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Other members of the cabinet include Emmy Lou Littlefield, Priscilla Gray, Edith Merrill, Margaret Brown, Dorothy Ames, and Barbara Smiley.

The last open house of the sororities will be held Friday afternoon, Oct. 31, in Estabrooke Hall from 4:00 to 5:30. All freshman women and transfer students who are interested are urged to attend.

Carl Fellows, assistant attorney general of the State of Maine, will discuss "The Attorney General's Office" at the regular class in Maine Government on Tuesday, Nov. 4, at 3:15 p.m. in South Stevens Hall. The lecture is open to the public.

An exhibition of prize winning prints from the twentieth annual competition organized by American Photography under the auspices of the University of Maine Photo Club is being held in Merrill Hall, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Panhell Banquet Attended by 150

Over 150 sorority women and their invited guests attended the annual Panhellenic banquet in Estabrooke Hall Monday night. Josephine Blake, president of the Panhellenic Council, was toastmistress, and Mrs. John F. Klein was the principal speaker.

Miss Blake welcomed the sorority women and introduced Nancy Philbrook, president of Alpha Omicron Pi and representative of the Panhellenic Council, who spoke on sorority and Panhellenic spirit. Miss Blake acknowledged the time and efforts of Dean Edith G. Wilson, and introduced Mrs. Klein, who chose "Traveling: Ways and Means" as her subject.

Physics Club Tries New Experiment

The Physics Club opened its fall program last week with a new and novel experiment. Roger E. White, one of the officers of the club, gave a demonstration of physics apparatus accompanied by a lecture, to the physics and science classes of Cherryfield Academy.

This was the first trial of a program designed to further the interest of science among secondary school students and to provide the students of poorly equipped schools with an opportunity to see and learn something about the interesting and valuable equipment which finds so much use in scientific industry.

Lowdown on Besse, Hanson - -

ous. I might as well straighten this point out right now. You know, there is an old belief that collaborators very seldom stay together for very long because each secretly thinks that his own ability is superior to that of his partner.

For this reason they split up, each going his own way. But, in the case of Besse and Hanson I'm afraid that this theory won't hold water. These two have only the most profound respect for each other's ability. If there is any doubt on that score just talk to either one of them for a few minutes.

Whence Come the Ideas?

How do they get their ideas for a show? To be truthful, I doubt if either one of them could tell you. Their ideas come from trivial things that usually have no connection with the show they produce. One day, BINGO! an idea is born, and that's all there is to it. Both agree that you can't hurry an idea. It just grows itself," like Topsy.

Their ideas for songs, on the other hand, follow a definite formula. The best way to write a song, according to Bea, is to first think of a good first, or title line. Thinking it over, all anybody ever remembers of a popular song is the title line.

If you can sock the public with a good title line you've got 'em. The rest of the song kind of takes care of itself. Anyway, that's their method, and judging from the results it produces I should say it works pretty well.

Bea Types, Frank Dictates

How do they go about working on a show? Does one do all the typing while the other dictates?

Yes and no is the best answer to that. Bea is the best typist in the team, so she usually draws the starting assignment. While Bea types, Frank rants and raves up and down the room dictating at the top of his voice.

Bea stands it as long as she can, and then insists that Frank take his turn at the typewriter. This is where the bind comes. Hanson's ability at the typewriter is a long way short of proficient. By the time he spells business, b-u-s-i-n-e-s-3-d-x Bea gets disgusted and takes over once more.

Student Survey Shows Majority Opposed to War

Isolationist Feeling, Plus Pessimism Seen on Campus

By Student Opinion Surveys

AUSTIN, Texas.—A majority of American college students, unlike most U. S. adults, are opposed to changing the neutrality law to allow supply ships to be armed and sent into war zones.

This isolationist attitude is discovered in the first poll of the school year completed last week by Student Opinion Surveys of America. The nationwide canvassing likewise reveals overwhelming sentiment against actual fighting in the war and growing pessimism on the campus about the country's ability to avoid the conflict.

Differs with Gallup Poll

The latest Gallup poll, taken like this student survey, since Congress took up the neutrality revision, found a ratio of 46 to 40 per cent in favor of mounting guns on American ships and 54 per cent approving of American ships and crews delivering supplies to Britain. But college interviewers, sampling a scientific cross section in every part of the nation, found a different answer among students:

The question: "Are you for or against changing the neutrality law so that American supply ships may be armed and sent into war zones?"

The results:
In favor 42%
Against 51%
Undecided 7%
(If undecided ballots are ignored, then 45 per cent are in favor and 55 against.)

Only 14% for War

"What do you believe is more important for the United States to try to do," the interviewers were next asked, "declare war and use our fighting forces where needed, or try to keep out as long as possible and supply the nations fighting Hitler and Japan?"

Declare war and fight. 14%
Stay out and supply . . . 79%
Undecided 7%

Since 1939 the surveys has charted the campus trend of opinion on the question, "Do you think the U. S. can stay out of war?" In each of the four polls taken optimism diminished:

Believing we can stay out:
December, 1939 68%
December, 1940 63%
February, 1941 49%
NOW, October, 1941 . . . 42%

Phi Eta 9-8, and North Hall 30-0. The Northern League champs have rolled up 93 points to their opponents' 8.

The Semi-finals

Last Sunday Kappa Sig defeated an outnumbered North Hall team 30-0. The frosh, with only eight men present, held the Kappa Sigs to a single touchdown in the first half, and it was not until the final period that the fraternity team could get going. Peppard and Bardsley sparked the North Hall club.

Phi Mu likewise won an unimpressive victory, nosing A T O by a 1-0 tally. The game was a defensive battle throughout, neither team being able to make any substantial gains either on the ground or through the air.

ning, and if Dick Martinez has a good day, he can not be overlooked. Allan Hillman is, perhaps, normally a better man than Joe Carey, but he is not as consistent. Further, Leo Estabrook can be counted on to give the two Polar Bears a run for their money.

The odds are against either Hillman or Carey defeating all four of the Maine men, but the possibility is still there. And by the same token there is a chance that Maine runners may place in a two or three-way tie for first.
